

Apple TV+ November 2025 Watchlist

Apple TV+ is turning up the heat this November with a lineup of bold storytelling, emotional journeys, and thrilling adventures. From heartfelt dramas to action-packed sequels, there's something for every mood and moment. Here's your guide to all the must-watch releases hitting Apple TV+ this month.

“Pluribus” – November 7

The most miserable person on Earth must save the world from happiness. This darkly comedic story delivers a sharp twist on optimism, exploring the absurdity of human emotion and the price of joy.

Watch on Apple TV+

“Palm Royale” Season 2 – November 12

Kristen Wiig returns as Maxine Simmons in this witty social satire about ambition and belonging in Palm Beach high society. Set in 1969, the second season dives deeper into Maxine's rise—and the cost of fitting in among the elite.

Watch on Apple TV+

“Come See Me In The Good Light” – November 14

A moving and unexpectedly funny love story that follows poets Andrea Gibson and Megan Falley as they navigate an incurable cancer diagnosis with humor, creativity, and unshakable love. A powerful testament to resilience and joy in the face of uncertainty.

Watch on Apple TV+

“The Family Plan 2” – November 21

Mark Wahlberg and Michelle Monaghan star in the high-energy sequel that takes the family from cozy vacation to international chaos. When a figure from Dan's past reappears, a holiday getaway turns into a wild game of cat and mouse with heart and humor at every turn.

Watch on Apple TV+

“WondLa” Season 3 – November 26

In the breathtaking conclusion to the series, Eva must reclaim the stolen Heart of the Forest and unite humans and aliens to save Orbona. A visually stunning and emotional finale that explores courage, unity, and the meaning of home.

Watch on Apple TV+

“Prehistoric Planet: Ice Age” – November 26

From executive producers Jon Favreau and Mike Gunton, this five-part docuseries journeys into a frozen world of colossal creatures and evolving ecosystems. Narrated by Tom Hiddleston, with music by Hans Zimmer, it's an awe-inspiring look at life after the dinosaurs.

Watch on Apple TV+

November is packed with stories that inspire, entertain, and move us. Whether you're diving into action, exploring emotional journeys, or discovering new worlds, Apple TV+ delivers something special for everyone this month. Thank you for supporting Ice Cream Convos—your sweet spot for entertainment news, interviews, and watchlists. Enjoy watching!